BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

The tentative schedule for the basketball season 1927-28:
December 16—Clemson, here.
December 20—Open.
January 4—Georgetown, here.
January 9—Vanderbilt, here.
January 16—Maryland, here.
January 18—Navy, there.
January 19—Virginia, there.
January 26—Tennessee, here.
February 3—W. & Lee, here.
February 4—Indiana, there.
February 7—Vanderbilt, there.
February 8—Tennessee, there.
February 11—Georgia Tech, here.
February 15—Open.
February 18—Open.
February 20—Open.
February 22 to 28—Southern Conference tournament at Atlanta.

Now that the football season has come to a close, the football men who are trying out for the basketball squad will report for practice this afternoon, after a week's rest from the strenuous exercises of the gridiron.

With the reporting of these recruits the basketball squad will be complete, estimated at three teams. Coach "Johnny" Mauer called for basketballers a few weeks ago was not answered by an influx of candidates, and as a result, the team is greatly handicapped by lack of material. This showing is deplorable and Coach Mauer hardly knows how to handle the situation under such lack of interest.

The small group of men who have been practicing three times a week for the last month are in the most part men from last year's freshman team, Milward, Combs, McBrayer, McGinnis, McLean, Torok and Owens. Eight men will report from the football squad besides Captain Jenkins, Dees, Mohny, Gibb, Portwood and perhaps Miller, if his two injured knees heal sufficiently, are regular varsity men. Lyons was on the freshman team last year.

Practice periods have been only instructive because scrimmages have been practically impossible on account of the small number of men, but with the new material daily practice periods will consist of thorough and long technical drills. The men who reported early in the season will make the team for the first games. However, the regular team will not be selected until the middle of January.

Coach Mauer states that there is good material for a first-class team, but it would take hard practice and cooperation to bring this material up to an efficient and capable standard. He added that the squad consists of green material while the new style of play is entirely different from any method used heretofore at the university.

Short passes from man to man will especially be stressed which makes efficient and winning teamwork and gives every member of the team an equal chance to contribute to the scoring.

The season's schedule has not been completed as yet. It is expected that sixteen games will be played during the season, eight of which will be at home and the remaining on foreign floors. The team will make an eastern trip between January 16 and 19, and will play Maryland, Navy and Virginia. On the southern trip, February 7 to 8, they will play Vanderbilt and Tennessee. During February 24 to 28 they will attend the basketball tournament at Atlanta.

State Y. M. C. A. Men
To Meet at Morehead

Students From All Kentucky
Colleges Will Gather for Annual Conference

The State Student Y. M. C. A. Conference will be held at Morehead State Normal school, Morehead, on December 2-3. One hundred delegates from the University of Kentucky, Centre, Transylvania, Berea, Eastern Normal, Georgetown, Kentucky Wesleyan, Cumberland, Union, Baptist Theological Institute, University of Louisville and Asbury College are expected to be present.

The visitors will be the guests of the students and faculty of Morehead Normal. Free entertainment will be provided for the accredited delegates. Several important speakers are on the program, including Dr. William A. Harper, president of Elon College, N. C.; Dr. W. D. Weatherford, president of the Y. M. C. A. Graduate School at Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. A. W. Fortune, pastor of Central Christian church, Lexington.

The purpose of the Student Conference is to bring together students capable of Christian leadership to discuss life problems and to bring to them a better understanding of life.

Literature on Russia
As Recommended by Princess Kropotkin

Princess Kropotkin, who recently spoke here on conditions in Russia, was asked for a short list of the books that she considered dealt most fairly with Russian affairs. She recommended the following:

Leslie Haden Guest, "The New Russia," T. Butterworth, 1926.
Margaret S. Miller, "Economic Development of Russia, 1905-1914," P. S. King, 1926.
Dmitry Mirsky, "Contemporary Russian Literature, 1881-1925," Knopf, 1926.
Dmitry Mirsky, "History of Russian Literature From the Earliest Times to the Death of Dostoyevsky, (1881)," Knopf.
George M. Paleologue, "Ambassador's Memoirs," tr. by F. A. Holt, Doran, 3 vols., 2nd ed.
E. A. Ross (1872-1918), "Russian Soviet Republic," Century, 1923.
Albert R. Williams, "Through the Russian Revolution," Boni, 1921.

PORTUS SPEAKS
AT CONVOCATION

Rhodes Scholar Addresses Students on "Pitfalls of Modern Civilization"; Also Talks to Classes

IS GRADUATE OF OXFORD

G. V. Portus, 1907 Rhodes scholar, and now professor at the University of Sydney, Australia, was the speaker at convocation, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock in the men's gymnasium. His subject was, "Pitfalls of Modern Civilization." He is the guest of Pres. and Mrs. Frank L. McVey. He will deliver several other lectures while here.

He addressed the members of the university class on international relations Thursday evening in the school cafeteria and this evening he will give a talk to the university faculty under the auspices of the American Association of University Professors. His subject will be, "Australian Institutions."

Mr. Portus was graduated from the University of Sidney in 1906 and earned three degrees at Oxford. He has taught in Oxford University and the University of Adelaide, Australia. Among his literary works are "Casitas Anglicanas," published in 1912, and "The Labor Movement in Australia," published in 1919.

Professor Portus was also a member of the English international rugby football team which played against France and Ireland in 1908.

Professors Roberts,
Webb Are Re-elected

The annual election of the senate body that took place Tuesday, resulted in the re-election of Prof. George Roberts, assistant dean of the College of Agriculture, and W. S. Webb, head of the physics department, as members of the governing council of the university. The senate is composed of the faculty. The council of the senate is made up of all the deans, and two members of the senate body. Each year two of the faculty are elected to serve on the council, which acts as the governing body of the university.

Dr. Albert Mathews to Address Chemical Club

Dr. Albert P. Mathews, of the College of Medicine, University of Cincinnati, will address the Lexington section of the American Chemical Society at its regular meeting, December 13, at 4 p. m. in room 214, Kastle hall. Dr. Mathews, who is an authority on vitamins, will speak on the subject, "Recent Progress in the Field of Vitamins." His lecture will be of special interest to students in chemistry, medicine, bacteriology and home economics. The meeting is open to everyone.

DRAMATIC CLUB TO GIVE ANNUAL
'AMATEUR NIGHT'

Stroller Pledges Will Present
Three One-Act Plays in Men's Gymnasium
Tonight

STUDENTS ARE INVITED

"Hearts," "The Traitor," and
"Catesby" Are Plays Chosen;
Judges Are Announced

"Amateur Night," the annual entertainment of Strollers, dramatic organization, will be held tonight in the men's gymnasium, at 7:30 o'clock. Three plays selected as the best in the recent try-outs will be presented at this time. All students are invited to attend the entertainment. There is no admission charge.

The plays and casts are: "Hearts," with Carolyn Letta, Elizabeth Goode, Margie Edwards, and Lucile Horne; "The Traitor," with Don Forman, Robert Thompson, Robert Baughman, John Herne, and Harold Williamson; "Catesby," with Elizabeth Hall, and Louis McDonald. The judges to select the best of these three plays are Miss Margie McLaughlin and Prof. Enoch Grehan, of the journalism department, and Prof. Carol M. Sax of the art department.

The names of the players who are Stroller eligibles as a result of this fall's try-outs will also be read at this time by Hunter Moody, president of the Stroller organization.

The committee to select the play for the spring production are at work to choose a suitable play, and have narrowed their selection to two plays, both of which are comedies. They will make a definite selection in the next two weeks, and try-outs for the spring production will be held sometime before the beginning of the Christmas holiday which begin December 21. This is the earliest that try-outs have ever been held and it is hoped that with greater length of time to practice, the play can be made to exceed any previous performance by the organization. The selection of a comedy for this year, it is believed by the Strollers, is in accord with

Funkhouser Writes for Russian Publication

Has Published Articles in Four Foreign Journals During Past Year

An unplanned contribution by the university in the study of Russia during November was the publication of a paper by Doctor Funkhouser on the "Homoptera of the Russian Museum," which appeared in the Annuaire de Musee Zoologique at Leningrad.

Since the beginning of the college year in September, Doctor Funkhouser has published four other papers in foreign journals, one in the "Records of the Australian Museum," of Adelaide, Australia; another in the "Philippine Journal of Science," at Manila; another in the "Entomologische Mitteilungen" at Berlin; and a fourth in the "Journal of the Indian Museum," at Singapore. He also had several articles published in scientific magazines in the United States.

During the past summer a book by Doctor Funkhouser, entitled a "Synonymical and Bibliographical Catalogue of the Membracidae of the World," was issued by the Smithsonian Press. This is a volume of six hundred pages with the introduction in French and the text largely in Latin. It required over ten years' study by the author and is dedicated to the use of entomologists in all parts of the world.

ATTENTION

Up until the time of the publication of The Kernel this week, no definite information could be obtained, either from the military department of the president's office, regarding the cadets marching at the inauguration of Governor-Elect Flem D. Sampson, December 13.

'Kampus Kat' to Give
Results of Prowling

Watch for the "Kampus Kat!" It is rumored this harmless and good-natured "kitty" in the form of the official publication of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, will appear again on the campus.

At intervals last year it prowled about university affairs and brushed against many individuals from whom it gathered food. The columns of the paper are devoted entirely to the humorous side of campus life and are not intended to injure the reputation of any one whose name might appear within its print.

At the International Convention of Sigma Delta Chi, the "Kampus Kat" was considered the ideal publication of campus life. Now it is back home, a very clever Kat, fresh and eager for its first appearance this year, which promises to be even better than last year.

All comments pro and con concerning the policy of the Kat will gladly be accepted and given due consideration. Mail all manuscripts to Editor, The Kat, University postoffice box 2324.

'LETTERS' EDITOR

Professor Farquhar Urges All
Students to Support New Literary Magazine With Contributions

MANY SUBJECTS LISTED

Prof. E. F. Farquhar, editor of "Letters," the quarterly publication of the English department of the University of Kentucky, urges the students to support the magazine by sending in contributions.

"Letters" is a new venture on the campus, and with the support of the body should become a permanent and valuable asset. The first edition of the magazine was well received by students as well as other Kentuckians interested in this new literary attempt. The aim of the editors is to make "Letters" a Kentucky magazine, containing contributions by Kentucky writers, and for Kentucky patrons.

Professor Farquhar wishes to discourage timidity upon the part of the students in sending in contributions, and he is confident of their support. Short stories, verses, criticisms, and other types of literary material will be gladly received by the editors. Harper's Magazine publishes an "Anthology of Collegiate Verse" each year and the best verses written by university students for "Letters" will also be submitted to Harper's for publication in their journal.

Members of New Rifle
Team Are Announced

Will Shoot Nineteen Matches
With Leading Universities
Throughout Country

The military department of the university has announced the members and schedule of matches for the 1927-28 rifle team.

The following men compose the team, H. F. Brown, J. O. Brennon, C. W. Daniel, E. E. Durand, J. R. Hester, V. D. Johnson, J. Kersey, J. M. Laughlin, E. R. Long, E. C. May, E. D. Morris, A. C. Munyon, J. J. Richardson, Jr., W. D. Simpson, S. M. Stagg and O. E. Terrill.

The schedule of matches is as follows:
Week ending January 14—Iowa State College, DePauw University, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Indiana University.

Week ending January 25—Mississippi A. and M., Oklahoma A. and M., Oregon, State Agricultural College, Kansas State Agricultural College.

Week ending March 3—Culver Military Academy, University of South Dakota, University of West Virginia, Ohio State University, A. and M. of Texas.

Week ending March 10—University of Cincinnati, University of Washington, North Dakota State College, Western Maryland College.

Week ending March 17—University of California Southern Branch, Virginia Military Institute.

The University of Kentucky rifle team holds an enviable record for the past two years. In both 1925-26 and 1926-27 this team won the championship of the Fifth Corps area.

Humanist Deplores Scientist's
Callous Cruelty to Amphibians

(By C. W. Hume)

The Lord caused Daniel to be thrown into the lion's den and Jonah to be swallowed by the whale, but He is in no wise responsible for the four little frogs being put in a cage with the snakes in the entrance of the Science building. It is generally suspected that a certain zoologist is the guilty man.

Daniel came out unscathed though maybe a little bit nervous, we are told, and Jonah was in the depths of hell three days and nights before he was liberated. It is conceivable to most persons that the frogs are in the state of the latter about all the time.

The frogs have committed no particular sin, as can be learned, to deserve such treatment unless by their croaking they have disturbed some summer campers at on time or another. However, this should be no indictment against them as every one has to "croak" sooner or later. But like the rest of us the frog only "croaks" once that he may "croak" immediately, therefore, indulging in this business too much—so maybe that's the reason for this latter punishment. There is evidence to lead us to

Annual 'K' Dance to Be Held Saturday Night
In Men's Gymnasium

Arrangements have been made for one of the largest Kentuckian dances ever to be held at the university, Saturday, December 3, from the hours of 8 to 12 o'clock in the men's gymnasium.

The Kentuckian dance is an annual affair given to help offset the expenses of the publication of the year book. In former years the "K" dance has been one of the most enjoyable dances given and this year it promises to be even more intriguing.

The hours, from 8 to 12 usually mean that the dance will start about 10 o'clock but Saturday night at the sound of 8 "cuckoos," the orchestra will flare up in a fit of fury and play more jazz than Paul Whiteman ever dreamed of. All men who are bringing their girls or who are inclined to attend as "stags" are requested to be on their way to the gymnasium at the specified time. Toy Sandefur and his orchestra have been engaged to furnish the music.

Nationally Known Educators to Study Conditions in Land-Grant Colleges of United States

SCOPE TO BE NATION WIDE

A special committee of nine nationally known educators were commissioned in Washington recently by Hubert W. Work, secretary of the 89 land-grant colleges in the United States including the University of Kentucky.

The survey, said to be the largest of its character ever undertaken in America, was authorized by the last session of congress with an appropriation of $117,000. It is expected to take two years to complete the survey.

Commissioner of Education John J. Tigert stated that the survey would be a "national study of accomplishments, status, and future objectives of the land-grant type of education, and not a collective survey of individual institutions."

Each of the states maintains a land-grant college, and 17 states and territories maintain land-grant schools especially for colored people. Last year approximately 327,000 students, of whom 13,000 were colored, were enrolled in these 89 schools. This number were taught by 23,168 professors and instructors, at the cost of $129,200,000, of which $4,154,000 was appropriated from federal funds.

Junior Class Elects
Officers for New Year

Warwick, Hester, Dundon and Laughlin Chosen at Called Meeting Wednesday

At a called meeting of the junior class, held in Dicker hall, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the following officers were elected: Sara Warwick, secretary; James Hester treasurer, John Dundon, junior editor of the Kentuckian, and Jess C. Laughlin, junior business manager of the Kentuckian.

Miss Warwick is a Stroller eligible, and a popular member of the Chi Omega sorority. Her home is at Talladega, Ala.

Mr. Hester has been a member of the university rifle team for the past two years, is a prominent member of SuKyu circle, and a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He lives in Mayfield, Ky.

Mr. Dundon received his numerals in tennis last spring, is a sports writer for The Kentucky Kernel, and a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He lives in Louisville.

Mr. Laughlin is an engineering student, a member of the glee club, and a member of the Triangle fraternity. His home is in Frankfort, Ky.

believe that this is the sole answer. Shieks and shebas at the university are supposed to learn something about serpents so they won't be as easily beguiled as mother Eve was in the Garden of Eden—or for some other such reason equally as plausible.

One professor, strongly suspected of being an evolutionist, told us that snakes formerly had legs just as dogs and cats, but in the course of time the legs grew so far apart that the snake gave down in his mid-section, hence he discarded his legs altogether and went places by crawling instead.

The frogs don't seem to be enjoying themselves much as the vicious viper winds his way to and fro among them in unholy glee, it seems, but snakes have to eat and they like frogs best of all. No doubt they will suffer the same fate as Jonah sooner or later, but there is little hope that the Lord will intervene in their cause as He did with the faithless prophet.

We took a last look at the unfortunate frogs and sighed that we might be able to describe the feelings of a condemned amphibian, but we can't; so we went away sorrowfully envying the snake of a luscious mess of frog legs.

PAN-POLITIKON IS SPONSOR

Princess Kropotkin and Eleanor
Cook Appear at General
Convocations

Sponsored by Pan-Politikon, student organization for the study of international relations; taken part in by the entire university and inaugurated by the appearance of Princess Kropotkin, Russian month came to an end, bringing to the students of the university a not inadequate knowledge of that strange Slavic race dwelling in a vast territory, and protected by the physical barriers of a land which only they have not found unconquerable.

Some conception of the history of this Slavic race, their temperament, characteristics and ideals were best given students of the university by the three lectures Princess Kropotkin delivered while here.

In the first lecture, the princess, speaking on "The Russian Riddle," advanced a new theory whereby it was shown that revolutions are not to be averted, only controlled, and speaking from an intimate knowledge of her people Princess Kropotkin said that the Russian revolution came as a result of long smoldering fires, burning in the breasts of the Russian people.

"The thing to wonder about," Princess Kropotkin said, "was not that the revolution happened, but that it did not come sooner than it did."

In her two other lectures, "Intimate Chats About Russia," and "The Red River," Princess Kropotkin presented with insight her subject—the Russian peasant. He, she declared, has always been misunderstood.

Eleanor Cook, appearing in the second convocation of the month in which a Russian program was given, brought with her a repertoire of Russian folk songs collected during her travels about the country and an entire wardrobe of the costumes of Russians and other Slavic nations.

The music department presented as their program for the month the University Philharmonic orchestra in a concert of Russian music. At the art department an exhibition of Russian paintings and drawings were shown, while at the library the whole of three shelves was taken up by the works of Russian authors.

Professors in all of the colleges of the university participated, devoting a lecture hour to the discussion of Russia's enterprise in their particular subject. The College of Education brought as a speaker of the month, Dr. Harold F. Clarke and the College of Engineering brought to the university as their speaker Col. Charles Morrow.

In brief, everyone at the university shared in the enthusiasm of Pan-Politikon, whom everyone feels should be congratulated, both this society and the university having profit-d by even so limited a study of Russia.

Edwin Knadler, Star
U. of K. Athlete, Dies

Popular Student Succumbs After Week of Illness, Had Returned Home

Edwin Christian Knadler, a junior in the College of Commerce of the university, died at his home on Shawnee terrace in Louisville last Tuesday night at 9:30 o'clock. His death came as a result of a case of influenza with which he had become infected and which caused him to return home a week before he died.

Edwin, more familiarly known as "Toots," entered the university the September following his graduation from duPont Manual Training school, where he was an outstanding athlete and where he won state-wide recognition for his ability as a basketball and football player.

During his freshman year at the university, Knadler won numerals in three sports: football, basketball and baseball. Last year he was awarded a letter in basketball, and was a substitute on the football team. Until a week before his death, he had practiced daily with the Wildcat candidates for this year's basketball team, and a berth on the varsity five had been practically assured him.

He was a member of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity, president of Keys, honorary sophomore fraternity, and was recently pledged to Delta Sigma Pi honorary commerce fraternity.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knadler, he is survived by four sisters.

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Louisville.

THE FOOTBALL SEASON

Thursday the Kentucky football team closed its season by bowing to the much superior eleven from Tennessee by a score of 20 to 0, a score which is by no means humiliating when the strength of the Tennessee team is taken into consideration. The eleven from our neighboring state, last Thursday, was a team that could have defeated almost any team in the country. Over-shadowed by a team far heavier than all we could muster, the Wildcats fought one of the best battles of the entire season. Every graduate, former student and student that saw the game was pleased with the showing made by our eleven.

Saturday before Thanksgiving followers and supporters of the Blue and White saw a game that brought joy to our hearts. Joy, to a great may, for the first time in years of meeting our traditional foes, the Centre Colonels. The Wildcats not only repaid their followers for the seven point defeat of last year but ran up enough points to even up the results of several years before. Fifty-three to nothing is a big score but there was no score that could have been too big for those who, have loyally followed the Wildcats for years.

At the beginning of the season our team was forced to face several serious handicaps. There was insufficient material out, there was not enough weight distributed among those who were out and then there was a complete change in the coaching system. Added to all of this was one of the heaviest schedules in our history and one of the hardest in the South. Coach Gamage with all these obstacles confronting him set to work to mould a team. From the first game on they displayed improvement. They hit harder, tackled surer and ran better. They were as fit physically as hard training could make them. They had absorbed a maximum of spirit and fight. They only stopped putting all they had into the game when the final whistle blew.

Taking the results of the games for the whole season our record does not compare favorably to years gone by, but the scores this year are by no means an indication of the ability of the team or the value of the coaching system. In fact the scores give us credit for a season far more successful than those in touch with the team had reason to expect. In our humble opinion Kentucky football fans have much to be thankful for in Coach Harry Gamage. He has inaugurated a system at Kentucky, which, if followed in the future, will build up on the campus a team that will with honor carry the Blue and White. The editor of this column has long been known as one of the outstanding "Next Year Men." Again this year we are going to talk next year but with a feeling of certainty this time. Often before it has been, to a large degree, from loyalty. Kentucky football is just now beginning to take its place in the growth and development of the University of Kentucky along with the other great and more important improvements.

HOMECOMERS FILL STADIUM FOR GAME

Huge Crowd Present for Annual Football Game With Tennessee; Tea and Dance Features

OVER 1,500 ATTEND DANCE

Homecoming this year is a hard subject to write a news story about. This, because it can truthfully be said that there were two homecomings this year. One, the formal and pre-arranged Homecoming Thanksgiving day and the other on November 19, when we met and defeated, so decisively, the Centre Colonels.

There were almost the same number of returning alumni from the University of Kentucky as there were Centre alumni at the game in Danville. Graduates and former students of years gone by went to Danville to see Kentucky triumph over Centre, many of them for the first time. It was the Centre homecoming.

Thanksgiving, with bad weather predicted turned out to be an ideal football day. Both sides of the stadium were packed with supporters of the Blue and White and the Gold and White. The crowd, as at every homecoming was colorful. Both universities were represented by a good football team, an ardent and large group of supporters and two crack bands. Both trying to outdo the other along each line. Kentucky won on the last two but was forced to bow to a superior football team. Naturally enough the Kentucky supporters outnumbered the Tennessee followers. It goes without saying that our band was by far the best.

The number of Homecomers this year was larger than in any recent year. Almost every class was represented and they were here from every part of the world. Main street in Lexington from the Union station to Limestone street was like one huge reception. Everyone met everyone and as usual the hand shaking and back slapping was continuous. The people of Knoxville, ever genial and gracious hosts, were accorded similar courtesy by the citizens of Lexington.

Following the game the visiting alumni and a great many of the visitors from Tennessee were guests at a reception given by President and Mrs. McVey. In the evening the usual Homecoming dance was given by the Lexington Alumni Club. The visiting alumni, visitors from Tennessee, and both teams were guests of honor at the dance. A good orchestra was engaged and approximately 1,500 attended the dance which lasted from 9:30 until 1 o'clock.

Charles Rose McClure, B. S. M. E. 1920, is manager of the New York office of the Bailey Meter Company of Cleveland. His address is 46 Hawthorne terrace, Leona, N. Y. He was married to Miss Elsie E. Roseberry in 1924. He has been with the Bailey Meter Company since his graduation.

Anna Voigt Becker, B. S. H. E. 1927, is beginning as an active member of the association the first year out of school. She is teaching home economics in the high school at Anchorage. She also is manager of the high school cafeteria. Her address is 515 hitney avenue, Louisville.

Sherman H. Stivers, Jr., B. C. E. 1910, C. E. 1913, is an engineer with the land appraiser, bureau of valuation, Interstate Commerce Commission. His address is 805 Mills building, Washington, D. C. He has been with the Interstate Commerce Commission since 1914 and has been an active member of the association all the time since.

Patrick Henry Neblet, A. B. 1909, is superintendent of schools at Jackson, Ky. He recently sent in his check for dues for this year. He has been active in the education of Kentucky since his graduation. Before going to Jackson he was superintendent of schools at Hazard, Ky.

Paul Francis, B. M. E. 1911, is vice president and general manager of the Pioneer Jellico Coal Company, at Pioneer, Tenn. He has been with this company since 1921. Soon after graduation he went to Mexico with the Mexico Coal and Coke Company at Los Esperances. He returned to Kentucky in 1916. He has been recently added to the list of active alumni after being inactive for a short time.

Carl Pittman Lipe, LL. B. 1923, is president of the Lipe Planting Company of Clarksdale, Miss. We recently received a check for his dues for this year. After graduation he entered the cotton producing business in Vance, Miss., only recently going to Clarksdale.

Mrs. Nannette R. Skain, is another former student who is an active alumnae. She is married and lives at 7 Mentelle park, Lexington, Ky.

George Norton Sharpe, Ex-1890, is another former student who is an interested and active alumnus. He has been a member of the alumni association each year for the past eight years. He is with C. F. Bower and Company of Lexington and lives at 174 East Maxwell street.

From the Mail Box

Dear Alumni Association:

The Kentucky Kernel made me feel homesick for Kentucky. I am enclosing my dues for 1927-28. The program of expansion sounds good to me and, while out of the state professionally, my influence, if any, will be used to help make our university as great in buildings and resources as it is in intellectual and cultural leadership.

MEMBERS OF CLASS OF 1926 MARRIED

Miss Ava Cawood and Kyle Whitehead Are United in Marriage at Asheville, North Carolina

WILL RESIDE AT MURRAY

One of the recent weddings that will be an interest to a large number of alumni was that of Miss Ava Cawood, of Asheville, N. C., to Mr. Charles Kyle Whitehead, of Murray and Harlan, Ky. They were united in marriage at the First Presbyterian church of Asheville, August 18. Both are graduates of the University of Kentucky and members of the class of 1926.

Immediately following the ceremony they left for a trip through the East and returned by way of Lexington where they spent several days calling on friends and former school mates. They later left for Murray, Ky., where they will make their home.

Mrs. Whitehead is the daughter of Mrs. S. A. Cawood, of Asheville. While attending the University of Kentucky she was one of the most prominent part in student activities. Mr. Whitehead was a journalism student while at the university and took an active part in the student publications. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Whitehead, of Harlan. He is head of the department of journalism and director of publicity at the Murray State Normal and Teachers College, at Murray, which position he took last year after teaching in the journalism department of the University of Kentucky.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead will be remembered pleasantly by the members of the class of 1926 and many others who were in the university with them.

Alumni From Cuba Attend Homecoming

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Propps, En Route to Wichita, Kan., to Make Their Home

Among the visitors in Lexington for Homecoming were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Propps, who came to Lexington from Cienfuegos, Cuba. They were en route to Wichita, Kan., where Mr. Propps has an important position with the Kansas Gas and Electric Company. Mrs. Propps was, before her marriage, Miss Carolyn Bascom, of Mt. Sterling. She was graduated from the university with the class of 1927 and was a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Propps was graduated in 1922 from the College of Engineering. He will be remembered to his many friends as "Speedy" Propps of baseball fame. He was a member of the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity. After leaving the university he went with the Kansas Gas and Electric Company, going to Cuba with the Cuban Electric Company in 1925. They were married last summer and left immediately for Cuba. Mrs. Propps informed us that they just recently returned to Wichita where they will make their home in the future.

Founder Day Banquet

Alpha and Beta chapters of Alpha Delta Theta celebrated founder's day Friday evening with a banquet at the Phoenix hotel. The table was attractively decorated with the sorority colors and flowers. Mrs. James William Craig of the Alpha chapter presided at toastmistress.

Those present from the Alpha chapter were: Carmie Back, Florence Bell, Martha Bishop, Virginia Clark, Mattie Miller Clayton, June Everhart, Evelyn McCord, Willetta Miller, Maud

Ransdell, Martha Rice, Margaret Robinson, Margaret Walton and Sarah Wells.

Those from the Beta chapter included Hallie Day Back, Minnie Lou Bennett, Billie Boyer, Helen Brown, Irene Brummette, Virginia Cochran, Pauline Collier, Irene Cullis, Mrs. Dean, Evelyn Delaney, Nell Farmer, Stella Plantz, Josephine Frazer, Jane Gooch, Marion Jarrett, Ruby Lowell, Mary Joe McComick, Virginia Robinson, Edith Sisk, Laura Bell Smith, Elizabeth Wells, Vera Woodruff and Dee Worthington.

House Dance

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity entertained their pledges and friends with a delightful house dance at their home on South Limestone street and about one hundred and fifty guests were present. The house was daily decorated in the fraternity colors of purple and gold. Music was furnished by Frank's orchestra.

Members of the active chapter who were hosts were: Bobby McMur-ray, Clifton Waddill, Woodford Wornall, June Lyons, James Collier, G. D. Coffman, Paul McBrayer, E. C. Weathers, Harold Bird, C. Combs, F. Farley, H. Greaver, E. Jones, S. Johnson, L. Layman, H. Lewis, W. Maxon, G. Pope, F. Phipps, F. Seaman, M. Smith, H. Stone, B. Waddle, D. Whitehead, E. Rice and Gayle Mohney. Pledges: Dick Richards, Roy Harvey, John Archer, Ben Martin, Rex Allison, Jack Woods, Sam Blackburn, Paul Goodloe, Ed Riley, William Kelley, W. E. Rodgers, Jim Nixon, Smith Caywood, Howard Graham, Ed Green, John Kellog and Bob Holt.

Mortar Board Tea

Mortar Board, honorary senior girl's sorority, entertained delightfully with a tea Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at Patterson hall. The room was beautifully decorated with red roses and the lights were shaded. Tall candles in silver holders were burning in various parts of the room. An ice course was served. During the afternoon initiation was held. Miss Lydia Roberts, who had a standing of 3, and Miss Isabel Craig who had a standing of 2.7, were the only two who were pledged.

Delta Delta Delta Entertains

The Delta Delta Delta sorority entertained with a founder's day banquet, Thanksgiving eve, at the Lafayette hotel. Sixty members of the sorority were present, including members of the Delta Rho chapter of the University of Kentucky, and the Beta Zeta chapter, of Transylvania University.

The colors of gold, blue and silver were carried out in the decorations, and lovely fall chrysanthemums adorned the tables, which were arranged to form a large delta. Miss Ann Carvill presided as toastmistress, and toasts were given by representatives of the two chapters, and by an alumnus. The pledges brought the program to a close with a novel act.

Triangle Dance

The Triangle fraternity entertained their pledges and friends with a house dance last Wednesday night at their home on the Nicholasville pike. The house was artistically decorated with furs and the fraternity colors of old rose and gray. Art Payne and his orchestra from Louisville furnished the music for the occasion. Two hundred guests were present.

The active chapter who were hosts to the dance were: C. R. Baugh, I. C. Berry, E. M. Butler, M. T. Carpenter, C. E. Colvin, Jr., C. H. Dees, D. C. Edwards, Jr., J. H. Gray, J. H. Griffith, R. F. Hayes, Larkin Keller, A. W. Lawrence, D. L. O'Rourke, C. A. Poole, G. P. Sewell, M. Smith, O. J. Stoesser, H. A. Thornberg, T. A. Walters, S. H. Wise.

The pledges: W. W. Anderson, W. L. Albert, R. D. Cook, R. G. Heitz, L. B. Henderson, W. L. Hoising, J. M. Howard, J. C. Laughlin, H. A. Noles, J. V. Smith, W. L. Spain, and W. B. Young.

New England Supper

Members of the Mortar Board, senior women's sorority, were delightfully entertained at the home of Miss Virginia Boyd on Waller avenue, with a New England supper.

The house and tables were decorated with chrysanthemums and the hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother and her sister, Mrs. Paul P. Boyd and Miss Betty Boyd.

Following the dinner the regular Mortar Board meeting was held. About sixteen members were present.

Thanksgiving Tea

President and Mrs. McVey entertained with a delightful informal reception at Maxwell place Thanksgiving afternoon for the homecoming celebration of the University of Kentucky.

The guests were received after the football game and numbered about three hundred, among them were the members of the Tennessee band, Tennessee rooters, and the University of Kentucky coaches, alumni and students.

The tea tables were presided over by Mrs. M. L. Pence, Miss Clara White, Mrs. Enoch Grehan and Mrs. Raymond Kirk. Assisting in entertaining were Miss Sarah Blanding, Mrs. Harry Gamage, Mrs. Morris Scherago, Mrs. Katherine Lyons, Mrs. John Jewell, Mrs. E. A. Bureau, Miss Marguerite McLaughlin and Mrs. Birket Lee Pribble.

In the dining room on the sun porch tea tables were arranged and decorated with white chrysanthemums and blue candles in silver and brass holders.

House Dance

Omega chapter of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity entertained their pledges and friends with a dance at their house on Rose and Maxwell streets Saturday evening. The house was beautifully decorated in blue and white streamers intermingled with the fraternity colors of garnet and gold. Fruit punch was served throughout the evening. Music was furnished by Toy Sandifer's Rhythm Kings.

The hosts were Messrs. David Alexander, Joseph Allen, Boner Blasing-game, Stanley Black, Richard Bolling, Will Ed Covington, Lawrence Curry, William Durbeck, Whitney Evans, Arthur Eastwood, Richard Elliott, Edwards, Jack Fish, Arthur Hoover, Edwin Hampton, James Hester, Lee Ison, Joseph Morris, Hart Miller, Gapson Mapzy, Fred McLane, Glenn Roberts, Thomas Rose, Charles Rice, Jack Rash, Chester Silvers, Tyron Smith, James Shewmaker, William Selle, Grey Tucker, Robert Warren,

WELL DONE, TEAM

Notwithstanding that the Wildcats have lost all but three games the football season comes to a satisfactory close.

Not only is the university satisfied in the manner which the Wildcats have worn the Blue and the White, but the supporters of the team in this city and throughout the state say in quiet unison, "the boys have done well."

Facing discouraging odds the team has steadily progressed, fought literally with the fury of the wildcat, their namesake. And it is not so hard to understand why they fought like that.

University spirit has not in several years been so fervent. The student body were behind their team and they believed in it. Their belief made the team strong. They had, just simply had, to "get right." and they did "get right."

The Kernel, in looking ahead, sees the future clothed in the dazzling garments of honor and glory. A new spirit has been born. How it was given birth is almost impossible to say, exactly. But the team this year may well cherish the belief that it was they who made this spirit a potent one. And that, The Kernel believes, is enough for a man or body of men to desire. Indeed, the boys have done well.

THE COACH

It has been said that the job of coach is a thankless one—if the team is a winning one, the members get all of the glory; if the team is a losing one, the coach gets all of the blame. But The Kernel feels that this condition does not exist at the university, but rather it is confident that faculty, alumni, and students appreciate the splendid work done and being done by Head Coach Harry Gamage and his assistants.

It is not necessary to heap praises upon Kentucky's mentor. His work speaks for itself, and the satisfaction he must derive from knowing he has done his job and done it well, must be all of the praise that a man of Coach Gamage's calibre desires.

But The Kernel does think also that it is better to throw roses at a man rather than on him, and so it is taking this opportunity to tell our coach how much the university appreciates his ability and his work in the football season just past. The task confronting the Illinoisan would have terrified a lesser man, but Coach Gamage shouldered it manfully and came out of the season with flying colors.

The Kernel is confident that it is voicing the sentiment of the entire student body in assuring our coach that it is behind him solidly—and will continue so to be, win or lose, while he stays at Kentucky.

And may that stay be a long one!

"LIKE UNTO THE QUEEN"

Coch Gamage and athletic authorities and the university generally have been commended upon the collegiate sportsmanship that has embellished a hectic season for the Wildcats and for their friends. Notwithstanding this The Kernel feels that it cannot permit this occasion to pass without an expression of commendation also through its columns of the manner in which the university's attractive band sponsor has been received and complimented throughout the South.

Miss Charley Smith has been toasted by virtually every newspaper in the South on her rare personal attractiveness, her marked dignity, and her many intriguing little expressions of courtesy to opposing teams and rival bands.

And so, at the end of this football season The Kernel has taken this opportunity to congratulate her for the superb way she has borne honors that have come thick upon her. The dictionaries, unfortunately, do not give an adequate supply of adjectives, and so one cannot fitly give utterance to expressions which would be on the whole, so deplorably incomplete.

The Kernel would merely abide by a Kentucky tradition and bend the knee to another of Kentucky's uncrowned queens—a queen whose reign will end on the university campus with her graduation in June.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

A REGENT CENSORS STUDENT NEWS

(Oregon Daily Emerald)

Some of the highly combustible Lindsey tinder has flared up at the University of California at Los Angeles. A vagrant spark, in the form of the Portland report of a "Revolt of Youth" lecture, published in the daily Bruin, caused the conflagration. Regent Edward Dickson has ordered the Bruin hermetically sealed in hope of suffocating the incipient blaze.

As editor of the Los Angeles Express, Mr. Dickson should be qualified to pass judgment on the impropriety of news. And as former editor of the Daily Californian, he should know the just scope of college papers. As a regent of the university he considers Judge Lindsey's views on youth unfit for campus consumption.

All this is easily explained, but Mr. Dickson's remedy is far more dangerous than the evil which he attempts to stamp out. He tampers with democratic student administration and establishes with one gesture, a despotism. He usurps authority from the Bruin editor and takes advantage of regental privilege to enter by the back door and clamp a censorial muzzle on the Bruin. If successful, this act of the California regent undermines the entire undergraduate structure of self-determination.

Without discretionary rights, the student editor becomes a marionette dancing to the whimsical tugs of any meddling passerby. If supervisory pressure is found necessary, it should be brought to bear through the responsible editor, not through official university channels. Criticism, advice, suggestions—all these could be freely bestowed with benefit to student publication from the sagacity of long professional experience. But the satisfaction of a peremptory command is not legitimately obtained by the overhead route.

Any despotic control, no matter how benign, is inimical to the fairest and most truthful news treatment. Such control robs the paper of all initiative. It is restricted to house-organ compass.

LIFE

Life is life this; a great gray cloud
That parts slowly to reveal the blue.
For out of every wintry sky
Summer will come to you.

Disappointments teach us well
And steel to greater pain.
But consolation comes at last
And we find joy again.

I WONDER

When our love is done
I wonder
If I can laugh like one
Who does not regret
Heaven lost
Or shall I sit and wonder how
I let you go
Like one who did not care
For what only you
Could give?
Shall I ponder
And coolly wonder
How you kept me so enslaved
While you took the things I gave
And used not your heart
As barter?

MEMORIES

You were an angel with a soul of love;
You came to me and I stole your heart
And promised mine to you.
But ere the days had turned to years,
And ere your love was through,
I shut you from my heart
And hid you go.
I laughed at you when, as you left,
You tore your heart from your sweet soft breast
And lay it at my feet.

—Robert E. Sharon.

TO ANNE

Sweet creature of death, I worship now at thy throne,
For thou art the queen of my love.
It seems that I could always kneel here in this sacred place,
And feel the pulse of thy young soul,
And thrill at the joy of thy love.
But tomorrow or the next day I shall be gone,
While another will speak sweet words of love
to you
And heal the wound I make.

—Robert E. Sharon.

CHAMELON

You say
My words and deeds I use as gaily painted screens
Some lovely and some sinister:
Complain
That my true self you never see
Within my eyes, nor hear
In these my words. But see
Here, there, this moment or the last,
Myself, the one you looked for, passed
And smiled at you, behind my gossamer screens.

—F. D.

WAILS OF THE WEEK

TRUE, BROTHER, TRUE!

"One advantage about studying in a fraternity house is that there is always enough noise to keep you awake," remarked our star goat the other day.

The University of South Carolina bids fair to have a bumper crop of Phi Beta Kappa eligibles in the near future. Dates are allowed according to the standing of the students. Yes, girls, an aa-"A" prodigy may have a date every night of the week.

QUESTION

But what student can have a date every night of the week and yet hold such a standing? Verily, there is cruelty in that ruling.

AND ANOTHER THING—

What about Russia anyhow???

Needless to say, as Christmas approaches we have already prepared the old six-shooter for the first one who tries to spring that old wheeze about the man shooting a gun on Xmas morning, then telling the kids that Santa had committed suicide.

PREVIEWS OF LOCAL SHOWS

KENTUCKY THEATER

"MAN CRAZY"

Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall, the popular team of First National players, are seen together again in "Man Crazy," now at the Kentucky Theater. It is a story of New England, with romance and thrills.

He drove the fastest truck on the Boston Post Road. She came from the most aristocratic family in New England. The complications in "Man Crazy" will amuse you. It is a First National picture.

"TWO ARABIAN KNIGHTS"

A pistol duel at four paces with a girl watching, a dagger poised at her heart ready to end her life if her sweetheart is killed, forms one of the high dramatic points in "Two Arabian Knights" to be seen next Sunday and through Wednesday at the Kentucky Theater.

"Two Arabian Knights," despite this exciting incident and others like it, is not a heavy drama. It is a comedy-drama, packed with swift moving and laughable situations, depicting the adventures of two American soldiers at the close of the war. In escaping from a German prison camp in Arab attire they find their disguise leads them into so many unusual situations that they often wish they were back in the comparative safety of the camp.

BEN ALI THEATER

"TUMBLING RIVER"

Fox Films includes the new Tom Mix production, "Tumbling River," among the most important of the remarkable list of pictures released for the season. This story of the romantic west, from an original called "The Scourge of The Little C," by J. C. Grimstead, comes to the Ben Ali Theater Sunday.

Dorothy Dwan, in the feminine lead, appears in her first western. Others in the cast are Wallace MacDonald, William Conklin, Stella Essex, and Elmo Billings.

"NO CONTROL"

Hall the new "Comedy Consultant!" Charles Grapewin, one of vaudeville's foremost entertainers, filled this new position during the production of "No Control" at the Metropolitan Studio. Grapewin has written and starred in many vaudeville sketches and has brought to the screen a new type of humor to supplant the usual "gags." "No Control," which comes to the Ben Ali Theater next Monday, is a screen version of Frank Condon's Saturday Evening Post story. Harrison Ford and Phyllis Haver are co-featured.

Vodvil will also complete the program.

"VANITY"

Following numerous appearances in high comedy, Leatrice Joy returns to strong drama, in her latest star picture, "Vanity," which comes to the Ben Ali Theater on Thursday next. The popular star finds herself once more in the type of role in which she made her first big success in "Manslaughter," "The Ten Commandments," "Saturday Night," and "Triumph," famous Cecil B. DeMille productions. Her versatility enables the dark-haired little star to portray the stellar role of "Vanity" with the finest result. Alan Hale and Charles Ray play the featured supporting roles. Three acts of vodvil will also be given.

STRAND THEATER

"MAN, WOMAN AND SIN"

Learning to act before the camera is like learning a new art entirely, according to Jeanne Eagles, famous stage star of "Rain," "Daddies," and other footlight hits, who made her bow as a screen actress in "Man, Woman and Sin." John Gilbert's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle. Miss Eagles says that the technique of the screen is so different from the stage that she had literally to learn it over. The new picture, coming Sunday to the Strand Theater, is a vivid romance of newspaper life in Washington, much of it filmed at the national capital. Gilbert plays a newspaper reporter in a strange adventure, and Marc McDermott, Gladys Brockwell and others of note are in the cast.

"SINGED"

Claude King, well known character man, was signed by Fox Films for the role of Grimes, a San Francisco attorney, in "Singed," starring Blanche Sweet with Warner Baxter, under the direction of John Griffith Wray. The picture opens a two day run at the Strand Theater December 8. As Attorney Grimes, King is called upon, during the unfolding of the plot, to advise Warner Baxter, former derrick man who becomes a millionaire over night, due to an oil well gusher. Baxter, as Royce Wingate, shoots like a meteor across the business horizon of the Bay City, under the advice and patronage of Grimes.

King recently appeared with Thomas Meighan in "Irish Luck" and with Milton Sills in "The Unguarded Hour."

When Xerxes wept

THE great Persian ruler gazed from a hill-top upon his vast army of a million men. It was the largest army that had ever existed. And he turned away with tears in his eyes because in a hundred years all trace of it would be gone. That army was a symbol of power, destructive and transient.

Today in one machine, now being built in the General Electric shops, there is combined the muscular energy of two million men. This great machine, a steam turbine, is also a symbol of power—a new power that is constructive and permanent.

Its unprecedented size, a record in construction of such machines, is a pledge to the people that the electrical industry is on the march, ever on the alert to supply plenty of electricity at a low cost to all.

This mammoth steam turbine with a total capacity of 208,000 kilowatts (280,000 horse power) will be installed in the new station of the State Line Generating Company near Chicago. What a striking contrast between this huge generating unit and the group of home devices it operates—MAZDA lamps, fans, vacuum cleaners, and many others. Yet General Electric makes both.

State Deans of Women Hold Annual Meeting

Dean Sarah G. Blanding Is Re-Elected President of the Organization

The Kentucky Association of Deans of Women held its annual convention at the University of Kentucky, November 21 and 22, with twenty-four delegates in attendance. The officers of the association for the past year were Dean Sarah G. Blanding of the University of Kentucky, Miss Olivia Orr, dean at Kentucky Wesleyan, and Mrs. Sarah Holmes, dean at Sayre College.

The convention program included talks on freshman adjustment, Y. W. C. A. work, and scholarship standards by Dean Mendenhall of Transylvania, Dean Mildred McAfee of Kentucky College for Women, and Dean Agnes Wells of Indiana University. The visitors were entertained by a drive through the Blue Grass, tea at Hamilton College, and dinner at the home of President and Mrs. McVey. The second day of the convention included election of officers, a talk by Mrs. Ralph Hill, dean at the University of Louisville, and Miss Marie Wilson, assistant dean at Miami University. At the close of the meeting Doctor McVey gave an address after which the delegates were guests at a luncheon given by Miss Sarah G. Blanding.

Miss Blanding was re-elected president for next year, Miss Elizabeth Roff of Ashland High school was elected vice president and Miss Hilda Threlkeld is secretary-treasurer.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

"The National Y. W. C. A." will be subject of the Vesper service at 6:30 o'clock, Tuesday night, December 6, at Patterson hall. Many of the members of local Y. W. C. A.'s do not realize that they are also members of a national movement, so the connection between local and national Y. W. C. A. will be thoroughly explained at this meeting. All girls of the university are invited to attend.

The Y. W. C. A. of the university entertained the children from Short Street Orphanage with a Thanksgiving party Tuesday night, November 22, at Boyd hall. The first part of the evening was given over to a program of stories and games, after which refreshments were served to the children.

The Freshman council of the Y. W. C. A. is planning to work during the year with the children from this orphanage.

Football Men Must Report for Wrestling and Boxing in Gym Monday

GAMAGE TO SEE THAT MEN KEEP IN CONDITION

Bigger and better football men is the motto of Coach Harry Gamage, and in trying to live up to this slogan the Wildcat mentor sends forth the call for all men who expect to play football in 1928 to report to the gymnasium Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock for wrestling and boxing. All candidates, whether eligible or ineligible, who expect to try out for the Wildcat varsity next year must report for this work which will start with wrestling Monday. The squad will probably be divided into two classes and Coach Bernie Shively will be in charge. This means both line-men and backfield candidates.

Those who like boxing rather than wrestling will be given their choice and there will be an opportunity for participation in both sports. It is compulsory for all men who expect to report for football to attend these classes.

There will be no meets between other colleges or universities as this work is held especially to develop and keep the football prospects in condition.

SAYS STUDENTS SHOULD MARRY

Professor Believes That Youths Should Wed After Freshman Year; Suggests Colleges Support Practice

HAS PSYCHOLOGICAL VIEW

What do the professors really think about the questions that absorb so much of the students' thought and furnish topics for so many "bull" sessions? These subjects are religion, sex, psychology, and the like.

Six State juniors got some intimation on these matters from Dr. B. W. Wells, professor of botany, when they dropped in to see him at his home. Doctor Wells was in a talking mood and expressed himself rather freely on these questions that that most older people are quiet on before students.

First of all, Doctor Wells showed his field of biology, he is one of the that besides being a great scientist in best read men in general literature on the campus.

He began the discussion by asking the question: "Can there be religious certitude in an age of doubt?" He followed this by saying that Catholic theology based on creeds and dogmas that cannot be proved. And that the Catholic church dominated the people of the Middle Ages by appealing to the element of fear in them. He further said that science had disproven, consequently he does not accept as true, any theology that cannot be proved by experiment or that does not conform to his every-day experiences.

Throughout the discussion Doctor Wells talked from a psychological point of view. He said that children could be made to believe almost anything. As an illustration of this he said that he could teach a child that the moon was made of green cheese. The sex factor in human life has two aspects, he said. These two are the psychic and the physical. His idea is that the psychic element should control the sex life, and if there is psychic harmony between a man and his wife there will also be physical harmony.

He ended the talk by saying that people do not marry young enough. The problem of education keeps many people from marrying as soon as they should. As a remedy for this situation he suggested that all colleges could be co-educational. At these institutions a course should be given to the freshmen that dealt with problems of married life and what true love is. These freshmen by the end of the year should be engaged and the following summer get married. In the fall the married couples should re-enter college and resume their studies.—The Technician

M'ELROY STARS AS TENNESSEE DOWNS KITTENS

Unable to break up the passing attack of the Tennessee yearlings, the Kentucky Kittens fell before the onslaught of the Rats by a 52 to 0 count. This victory closed an undefeated season for Tennessee's frosh.

McElroy, Kitten fullback, played a brilliant game, in fact he was responsible for nearly all of the gains against the Rats. Nowack and Forquar, linesmen for the Kittens, also starred.

Tennessee hopes for great things of Buddy Hackman, Rat halfback, who scored six of his team's eight markers. He received long passes from Bob Dodd for long gains and made runs of 76, 58 and 14 yards.

McElroy made the longest run of the tussle for Kentucky, his dash being good for 73 yards.

The Kittens' heavy line held up fairly well, but it seemed to give way as Hackman or McElroy took a notion to take the leather for a little trip, resulting in long gains that proved disastrous to the Kentucky lads.

'CATS OVERWHELM CENTRE ELEVEN 53 TO 0

(By Bill Reep)

The Wildcats with their hearts and souls filled with "pent up" energy from the sting of last season's humiliating defeat, unfolded their claws, which were unmercifully sharpened for the battle, and clawed aside the Centre Colonels with a 53 to 0 victory their worst defeat in ten years.

Although the score was large, the game was very interesting—for Kentucky. As for Centre College—perhaps not much. Even if the score had been doubled, the game would have still been interesting for Kentucky. No matter how many points might have been rolled up by the Wildcats, it could not have been too many to satisfy any supporter of state.

Never before had the Wildcats worked with such smoothness and perfection, which gained for them such deadly results. Their play certainly was a "sight for sore eyes" and erased from the left side of the ledger the thoughts of other games that were not won. Assuredly, Centre won't forget. Neither will state.

ENGINEERS TO BE IN ROMANY PLAY

Prof. C. M. Sax Announces That Engineering College Seniors Will Have Charge of Production

TITLE IS NOT ANNOUNCED

The Romany play for March will be given by senior engineers exclusively; they will constitute the entire cast, act as stage hands, build the scenery, and put the play on without any outside assistance.

Prof. Carol Sax, head of the Romany productions, said that the title of the play cannot be announced as yet but that it is one of the greatest plays in the English language and was written by a celebrated English dramatist. He also said that John Barrymore took the part of leading man in this play, in which he made one of his best hits with the public. It has not been decided which one of the seniors will compete with Barrymore's success.

This idea of giving the play over to the engineers was originated by Professor Sax, who thinks that it would be valuable for the engineers to know from inside experience the routine of producing a play from the typing of the manuscript to the finished production, the casting, directing, acting, scenery, lighting effects, advertising, box office management, and cost accounting. When he found that some of the engineers could paint as well as some of the art students, he saw no reason why they could not act as well as paint. He shows his confidence in them along the lines of drama in his statement; "I feel sure it will be equal to anything the Romany has ever done in merit."

This play has just one female character. There is only one girl in the engineering college, but she is not a senior, of course there are girls in the university who have some classes in that college, and then there are those who have been in the engineering college; so the suspense of just who this girl will be is very great. It is contemplated taking this play on the senior trip in March. However there has been no official discussion of this.

Delta Tau Delta Meets to Organize Mothers' Club to Aid Chapter

Mothers of Lexington members of Delta Tau Delta fraternity met November 18, at the chapter house and formed a Mother's Club. This is the first organization of its kind among the men's fraternities on the campus, its main object being to aid the chapter in all its activities and to form a closer bond between the mothers of the members.

Mrs. T. C. Ecton was elected president of the club; Mrs. J. K. Shropshire, vice president and Mrs. Ed O'Dear, secretary and treasurer.

Others who attended the meeting were Mrs. O. R. Williamson, Mrs. W. R. Davis, Mrs. B. E. King, Mrs. W. T. Fowler, Mrs. G. T. Howard, Mrs. S. B. Averett, Mrs. J. T. C. Noe, Mrs. F. B. Benson, all of Lexington, and Mrs. B. G. Crosby, of Versailles.

Clubs have been organized in many of the eastern schools, but this is believed to be the first of its kind in the South. The next meeting of the club will be held December 5.

I Read Where—

A statistician has figured it out that 8,500,000 women in the United States go out to work every day. This, he adds, is an increase of 4,500,000 in thirty years. Of course that doesn't count the women who are in business for themselves, the latter class including the women who are heads of their households and who really are doing the world's work.

And now President Coolidge has received an urgent appeal from Colorado onion growers for assistance. We had been lead to believe that in onions there is strength and they didn't need anybody's help.

An Arkansas housewife told her husband that another advantage of present day styles is that a woman can hang a dozen dresses in a chiffon robe, whereas in the good old days it took a good-sized closet to hold a couple of them.

O. O. McIntyre says that Collegians are going in for a new one—puffing at corn cob pipes. Several had to be rebuffed for trying out the new smoke while sitting in Tuxedoed elegance at supper clubs. One tossed out for refusing to pocket his pipe, declared the waiter who did the tossing had a few minutes previously offered to sell him a packet of cocaine.

"Blow some my way"—but what if he's one of those whose closest friend wouldn't tell him?

"No Man's Land" may now be invaded; home economics is offered as a course to men students at Ohio State, and here at the University of Kentucky classes in rifle marksmanship are offered to the women students.

Under a new ruling at the University of Illinois, fraternities there must fill out and file with the dean of men slips bearing information about each of the students whom they intend to rush.

Courses in Eugenics Increase in Colleges

American Eugenics Society Reports That Study Is Expanding Rapidly

The American Eugenics Society, which has for its aim the betterment of racial standards throughout the country, reports that the teaching of the science of eugenics in American colleges has been expanding widely since the introduction of the subject into the curricula about 25 years ago.

A survey of the higher educational institutions, made by the society's committee on formal education, whose chairman is C. Little, president of the University of Michigan, reveals that three-quarters of the colleges are offering instruction in human biology that may be covered by the terms genetics or eugenics. The survey covered 499 institutions.

Scientists and biologists canvassed by the same committee for their opinions on methods of teaching the subject agreed that caution should be used to preserve the scientific aspect of eugenics instruction and prevent it from becoming sensational and pseudo-scientific. They advised care in the selection of teachers, with preference given to accredited biologists, because the fundamental knowledge of the subject demands a good biological foundation. Teaching of the subject by enthusiasts was deprecated.

That state universities are perhaps more liberal in their treatment of problems of human biology is indicated, Doctor Little points out, by the fact that state institutions of the West indulge more freely in teaching eugenics. He observes that "along with an impersonal and non-emotional source of support there may have grown up a more active appreciation of the responsibility of the individual to the state." It was also shown that a larger percentage of the co-educational institutions offer courses in eugenics than either the colleges for men or the colleges for women.

The non-sectarian college groups show the largest percentage of students taking courses in the subject. —New York Times.

Exchange Notes

Twenty-two foreign countries are represented at Ohio State University by 68 students. China leads the list with 21 representatives, while the Philippines come next with 11 students. These countries are followed in order by Hawaii, Porto Rico, Argentina, Dominican Republic, Japan, India, Korea, Peru, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Egypt, Germany, Armenia, Austria, Brazil, Bermuda, Canada, and the Canal Zone.

It has been discovered by scientists who are working with specially designed apparatus at the University of Helsinki that dancing the Charleston causes more fatigue than the work of a laborer who saws wood by hand.

Courses in commercial aviation covering the fundamentals of aircraft, have been granted a place in the curriculum of Boston University. The courses will attempt to provide a clear and concise analysis of achievement and possibilities of transpora aviation.

RELIGIOUS DISCUSSION

(By J. P. Strother, Pastor of Epworth Methodist Church of Lexington)

ELEMENTS OF RIGHT LIVING

Isaiah 5:1-12

Isaiah prophesied during, or just following, the reign of Uzziah, who was the strongest, and most popular king that ruled in Judah after the golden days of Solomon. Uzziah wonderfully developed the resources that made for prosperity and wealth.

It fell to the lot of Isaiah to prophesy against the sins that always grow in the fertile soil of prosperity. Goldsmith becomes a like prophet when he says: "I'll fars the land to hastening ill a prey where wealth accumulates and men decay."

Isaiah portrays the decay in Israel—drawing a picture of Israel by using the striking parable of a vineyard. He represents Jehovah as fencing the land of Canaan as a vineyard is fenced, then gathering out the stones and planting Israel there as a vine is planted in a vineyard. Then Jehovah looked that the vineyard should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes.

Isaiah then calls upon the people of Jerusalem and Judah to judge between Jehovah and His vineyard. He represents Jehovah as saying: "What more could have been done than I have done to My vineyard? Wherefore when I looked that it should bring forth grapes brought it forth wild grapes? And now go to; I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge (or fence) thereof, etc." The teaching of this parable is so clear that only a word of comment need be added—Jehovah had planted Israel like a vine in the land of Canaan, and had cared for her as an husbandman does for his vineyard. Not as a matter of mere pastime or favoritism, but that He might get returns. That is, that Israel's special privileges which they enjoyed as a result of Jehovah's special care, should issue in fruit for the Divine Husbandman rather than in wicked self-indulgence and pride.

Notice the penalty Jehovah announces: "I will take away the hedge, and it (i. e. the vineyard) will be eaten up." This means that Jehovah with-draws His care and protection from those who misuse it. All Scripture and all history teach this lesson. One nation after another has decayed when they have grown rich and used their riches for selfish ends, and self-indulgence.

Isaiah continues: "Woe unto them that join house to house, that lay field to field, till there be no place, etc."

It is plain to see that this woe is pronounced upon the rich, who add house to house and field to field thus crowding out the poor. This sin has cursed nearly every civilized land.

Lloyd George is responsible for the statement: "If the big landed estates of the nobility in England were broken up, and thus made available for tillage by the poor the soil of England would almost feed its population; whereas only about one third of the food necessary is now raised." The recent revolutions in both Russia and Mexico have been due largely to this sin.

Again Isaiah continues his prophesy: "Woe to them that raise up early in the morning that they may follow strong drink," etc. Strong drink is not confined to prosperous people, yet it is a part of self-indulgence that usually goes with luxurious living. Pampered lives, become surfeited with normal pleasures, and pastimes, and try to drive nature to new thrills by drunken revelry.

The University of Oklahoma has built a library that will accommodate 1,000 students at one time.

Cooper to Study Farm Situation in the U. S.

Thomas P. Cooper, director of the experiment station of the University of Kentucky, was recently made chairman of a special committee to study the agricultural situation in the United States, at a meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities held in Chicago. The committee is making a study of reports from 41 experiment stations throughout the country, and a number of interesting things are being found out about the methods used.

One half of the students at Western State College are putting themselves through school. Thirty-one percent are depending on their own efforts for their livelihood, books, and tuition. Nineteen percent have previously earned money and twelve percent are working at various jobs about town to complete their college education.

student and faculty desires, it having been proven by Romany productions that comedies are much more in demand than any other type of play.

The Strollers, for the past three years, have not taken their production on the road, but it is hoped this year that they will be able to go to surrounding towns. This, Strollers feel, helps to advertise the university and at the same time, put the Stroller organization in the foreground as a university activity.

Louis Graveure to Sing At Auditorium Monday

Louis Graveure, international baritone, will be at the Woodland auditorium, Monday evening, December 5, at 8:15 o'clock, for the third concert of the Artists series. Bryceon Treharne, pianist, will accompany him in the program.

Schmidt, in the Berlin Tageblatt, said, "For me, Graveure is the greatest living concert singer," and this statement has been repeated many times by critics throughout the world.

Reservations for this concert may be made by calling to the Lexington College of Music. The prices of tickets range from $1.10 to $2.75, including tax.

Tigert Is Speaker at Fraternity Conference

Annual Two-Day Session of American College Fraternities Meets Nov. 25

Dr. John J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, was a speaker before the Interfraternity Conference, when the organization of American college fraternities met for its annual two-day session at the Hotel Pennsylvania on November 25. Doctor Tigert addressed the meeting of more than 200 college fraternity delegates from all parts of the country, on American educational problems.

A feature of the first day's session was a luncheon at which Dr. Francis W. Shepardson, vice president of Phi Beta Kappa and former commissioner of education in Illinois, was toastmaster. Judge William R. Bayes, chairman of the conference, was also a speaker.

The Interfraternity Conference, established in 1909 at Chicago as the result of activity on the part of Pres. William H. P. Faunce, of Brown, is the result of a realization on the part of college fraternities of their common ideals and aims. Through the efforts of the conference, mutual jealousies and rivalries have diminished and a clearer conception grown up of the modern fraternity as an adjunct to self-government at American colleges and universities. Hamilton Wright Mabie was the first chairman of the conference.

The conference has grown until today it includes practically all the long-established fraternities in addition to many of the newer ones.

Seven Men Are Pledged To Alpha Delta Sigma

Ellis, Bennett, Durbeck, Mezick, Cummins, Valade and Fish Are Chosen

The Desha Breckenridge chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, national honorary professional advertising fraternity, of the University of Kentucky, held its semi-annual pledging exercises at a meeting Monday night in the business office of The Kentucky Kernel, at which time the following men were pledged: H. B. Ellis, H. H. Bennett, William Durbeck, A. K. Mesick, E. B. Cummins, Ray Valade and H. S. Fish.

The selection of men for the fraternity is based on their experience, interest in the profession and their scholarship records. Since its founding, at the University of Missouri in 1913, it has gained national prominence, and is now the leading professional advertising fraternity. There are at present over twenty active chapters in the leading universities, Kentucky being the third chapter to be installed. It is considered one of the highest honors of the profession to hold a membership in this fraternity.

Members of the active chapter are: Fred Conn, Virgil Couch, Charles Honaker, Francis Watson, William Luesing, James Shropshire, Hunter Moody, Hayden Ogden, Phillip Glenn, Robert Warren and Dr. J. B. Miner.

WRITER DISCOURSES ON KERNEL ELECTION DAY

from Niel's burning ears. This is extinguished, however, when the editorial candidates file back in the office. A reporter grabs Niel's hand and congratulates him. He pulls a wry face.

Johnny: Mr. Plummer, I might say, before preceeding further, that there has been many laudatory comments made in your favor during this election.

Niel: Hold everything, Macduff, while I rush a dictionary for that word. Yes, yes, go on.

Johnny calmly continues, "But in consideration of your wishes we have chosen another candidate. Mr. William Glanz, who though absent physically, is with us spiritually. Mr. Glanz is editor of The Kernel!"

Niel gives an aesthetic whoop, rises gracefully, and executes a light fantastic.

Assemble, in unison: The king is dead! Long live the king!

Niel: Exit smilingly.

Chorus: For he's a jolly good fellow!

Niel: And please omit the flowers. I might drop in again sometimes.

Hold International Debate at University

Kentucky Men Take Part in Match With Representatives of English Society

The university participated in its second international debate Wednesday evening in the men's gymnasium, with three English antagonists representing the National Union of Students Debating Society of England and Wales. The subject of the debate was: "Resolved, This House Condemns the Popular Belief That National Independence Is Either Possible or Desirable," and as is the custom observed in split debate, no decision was rendered by the judges.

Affirmative debaters were Raymond Auxier, of Paintsville, Ky., junior; Frank Darvall, of the University of Reading, England; and Pat Rankin, of Lancaster, Ky., sophomore.

Negative debaters were John Ramage, of the London School of Economics and Political Science; Alfred Naff, of Lexington, sophomore; and Andrew Haddon, of the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Dr. Frank L. McVey presided at the debate, and introduced the speakers. The Kentucky team was coached by Prof. W. H. Sutherland.

Accepts Chairmanship Of Zoning Committee

Dr. Gardner C. Bassett, associate professor of psychology at the university, has accepted the chairmanship of the city zoning and planning committee of the Lexington Board of Commerce. Dr. Bassett has had considerable experience in civic matters and assisted in a recent industrial survey at Charlotte, N. C.

It is believed by some that there is no flattery for the army in the report of Dr. W. R. Atkinson, psychology instructor at Southwestern College, that the average intelligence of the freshman class is equivalent to that of a United States army major. Doctor Atkinson announces further that two years ago the freshman was equal to an army sergeant in mental acuteness, last year equal to that of a captain, and this year equal to that of a major.

McGill University students tried unsuccessfully to advertise their alma mater through the medium of blue enamel, and street cars. Several college students entered the Kingston tramway service car barns at Montreal with cans of blue enamel under their arms. They proceeded to daub hastily the bright yellow surfaces of the cars. The following morning the citizens of the city were surprised to see the huge letters of the university being displayed on the street cars. Their advertisement might have been successful but for the fact that the university is now threatened with a law suit for $1,000 by the tramway service.

Gallus Domesticus, Kentucky's Queen Makes New Record

A certain Gallus domesticus receiving ample proteins, fat and carbohydrates, accompanied with a sufficient apportionment of calcium and phosphorus, and having inherited from her progenitors a homozygous germplasm carrying those dominant genes influencing fecundity, did ovulate 300 times during 365 days. Upon ovulation, when the follicle ruptured along the stigma, each ovum accompanied by its deutoplasm was engulfed by the funnel of the oviduct.

Then the albumen-secreting portion, isthmus and uterus surrounded said ovum with protective envelopes, whereupon each ovum along with its chalaziferous layer, and vitelline membrane was deposited in the ingeniously constructed trap-nest. Upon completion of the metabolic processes involved in the formation of each and every germ-proof hermetically sealed reproductive cell, said domesticus did so rejoice that her inferior larynx gave rise to cackles.

In other words, Kentucky Queen laid 300 eggs in 365 days.

It costs a lot, but Camel must have the best

It is true that Camel is the quality cigarette, but it costs to make it so. To make Camel the favorite that it is costs the choicest crops of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. It requires the expense of a blending that leaves nothing undone in the liberation of tobacco taste and fragrance.

But the fame that Camel has won is worth all the trouble. It has brought modern smokers a new realization of excellence. They are particular and fastidious and they place Camel first.

Your taste will delight itself in these choice tobaccos. Camels get better the more of them you smoke. Their subtle tastes are unfolded by experience. They are always delightfully smooth.
